Features

- 28 Buckley Smith: He Dreams of Boats
In his art Buckley Smith creates a world that on one level doesn't exist, on another does, and on yet another combines to create a dream that is part reality, part fantasy.
BY MARY R. DRAKE
- 38 The Beech Nut Hut
This little hut on a hill, a landmark for generations of Penobscot Bay sailors, has been rehabilitated to its former glory.
BY CAROL DES LAURIERS CIERI | PHOTOGRAPHS BY BRIAN VANDEN BRINK
- 44 Fishmonger
Fishmonger George Parr carries on an ancient and honorable trade—acting as the middle-man between the fisherman and the restaurateur.
BY SALLY NOBLE | PHOTOGRAPHS BY JEFF SCHER
- 50 Afloat on the Tide
Wooden rowboats are a beautiful reflection of our lives—profoundly small in an immense world, worthy of attention, and symbolic of a rich life story through their weathered and handsome form.
PHOTOGRAPHS BY NANCY RICH
- 54 Mr. Thompson's Frozen Asset
The Thompson Ice Harvesting Museum in South Bristol is a working operation, where pond ice is stored in the winter and sold in the summer.
